Don't miss this great sponsorship opportunity at the NCWorks Partnership Conference, where you can network with over 1,000 people who will be interested in your products and services. Each year, North Carolina's premier workforce conference attracts Workforce Development Professionals from across the state. Attendees represent local, state and federal government, education, community-based organizations, community colleges, universities, and private sector businesses.

Sponsors and exhibitors have been an integral part of this conference for 29 years. The exhibit hall is right in the center of all conference activity, making interaction easy and frequent. In addition there are numerous networking opportunities planned into the 3-day schedule. We hope you'll join us this year!

Check out the conference website for specifics on sponsorship levels, fees, and perks.
